

Fencing II
Santa Clara Adult Education
Summer Session 2006
Worksheet 15

Foil Review (Pages: 1-95)

- 1. If your opponent takes a weak or improper engagement what attack can be done?
- 2. What is the line of direction?
- 3. Into what three groups can compound attacks be placed? Name them in order.

First Half of Actions on the Blade (Pages: 96-99)

- 1. Which actions on the blade are considered soft actions on the blade?
- 2. When is the glide considered a simple attack and when is it considered a compound attack?
- 3. The blade seizure is most effective when it is succeeded by which attack?
- 4. From the engagement in first in which line does the double change of engagement end and the glide executed?
- 5. Which flaconades employ transports? Describe each.
- 6. During the envelopment what is important to remember about the point?

Sabre (Pages: 181-213)

- 1. How many hand positions are there in sabre and what are their names?
- 2. In the sabre guard in third where should the point be?
- 3. When the weapon is placed in line should the arm and weapon form a straight line or an obtuse angle? Why?
- 4. Where is the movement centered when executing changes of engagement?
- 5. In modern sabre fencing which engagements are generally effected and why?
- 6. What is the purpose of the preliminary exercises?
- 7. How many glides with the point are there in sabre and what are their names?
- 8. Which cuts are considered pulling cuts?